AN ELOPEMENT.

Mr. Kelly and Miss Rivera Marry.

RAN AWAY YESTERDAY.

It is a surprise to their many friends.

Kelly shot an arrow through the hearts of a man and a maid, and this morning the couple applied the same of Hymen to the wounds.

When the early South bound train left the station yesterday, Mr. Frank Kelly and Miss Kate Rivera were passengers. At Nashville they left the coach and proceeded to a hotel. Mr. Kelly then secured license to marry and the assistance of a minister who in the parlors of the Durbin pronounced the words that linked the young people in a consensual chain.

The wedding is a great surprise to the many friends of the couple. It was known that Mr. Kelly and the young lady were sweethearts, but, outside of a few intimate associates, no one suspected that the young people contemplated marrying at any early date.

The girl, who Thursday became Mrs. Kelly, has been living in the county about a year. She came here from Corpus Christi, Mexico, to make home with an aunt, E. bridge Bradshaw, who lives in the Pembroke neighborhood. Mr. Kelly lives on a farm in the same vicinity and a warm attachment between him and the young lady grew from his frequent visits to the Bradshaw home. Their constant association ripened into love and with love comes the desire to marry.

Mrs. Rivera's only objection arose from the youthfulness of the sweethearts. As her daughter is only eighteen years old, Mr. Kelly not yet twenty-one, she wished the couple to wait several years.

But the young people were not to be deterred, and planned an elopement.

The young lady came into the city early in the week, ostensibly for the purpose of spending several days with the family of "Squire" Alex. Campbell. Wednesday Mr. Kelly came to Hopkinton. She could not resist her intention to run away with the young man, and this morning the plans were consummated exactly as pre arranged.

After a two weeks treatment by the Asylum physician, John Stafford, who was confined to his home near Bowling Green, today a sane man.

He was told at the bank that paper had been filed in department at Washington to the effect that he had been insane, and that his pension money from the Government. The papers bore statements that Stafford had been a Confederate and not a Union soldier. The man became almost instantly insane and his wild actions frightened many people. Stafford escaped from his guards and hid for several days in the woods, but was captured and brought to the Western Kentucky Asylum for the Insane.

He is now completely cured. In his developed, also, that the statements filed in Washington are erroneous, and Stafford returns to his home a happy man.
